

Psychogeographies Projects take you off the beaten path but we got a report that getting to the Chapter 1 starting point may take some of you a little too far off that path. There are multiple ways to get there, but the maps below will help you find the most direct route. There is also an additional parking option that we didn't include in our information sheet.

Though the maps focus on parking, it shows where the intended starting point is even if you are walking, transiting, or ridesharing. And keep sharing any tips you have! We'll share them with everyone else.

Parking options and directions from parking to the Chapter 1 starting point.

Google maps walking directions may take you the “back” way to the starting point which is not an ideal way to approach – it requires taking an overgrown trail. Approach the starting point from the Canal Road entrance to the park.

OPTION A: PARK IN GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY'S “SOUTHWEST GARAGE” (Free on weekends, pay on weekdays)

OPTION B: PARK ON 44th STREET: (Street Parking – free but limited | 44th Street is one way heading south)

